Exchange during Corona

Current situation
• High number of applicants - interest remains high
• Forecasts for spring and summer 2022 currently not yet possible

Things to know for your planning
• Application and selection procedures for the year 2022/23 will take place as usual
• Withdrawal from your exchange place is possible at any time
• Independent research on the situation in your host country as a basis for decision-making

TUM Global & Alumni Office is in close contact with all nominees and will try to find the best possible alternatives if necessary!
Our goal is to enable as many students as possible to spend a period of time abroad.

Student Exchange Coordinators Weihenstephan:

- Agricultural Science - Astrid Hotz
- Biosciences - Dr. Markus Gütlich
- Brewing - Prof. Ludwig Niessen
- Foodchemistry (Master) - Prof. Michael Rychlik

International Opportunities

Cooperating worldwide, TUM offers you many opportunities for international experience, ranging from short-term stays to year-long stays in one of our more than 100 partner universities. These programs will allow you to advance your academic profile, improve your language proficiency, boost your career prospects, and gain a global perspective. In this database TUM students will find different opportunities for a stay abroad.

Please first select the program you are interested in and then choose your subject area. Afterwards, you will be guided to the corresponding partner universities website. Once you click on the search button, you will see all partner institutions available for exchange to your subject area. To see further information about a program, please try a different browser.

Via this database you can find fact sheets of our partner universities, important application information as well as links to their websites. Please note that the summer courses & research internship programs listed in the database are administered by the respective partner universities. TUM can therefore not offer advisory services regarding these programs. Please use the contact information provided.

Enjoy exploring a world full of international opportunities!
